PGW FILES REQUEST WITH REGULATORS TO INCREASE DISTRIBUTION BASE RATES

New average residential bills would still be lower than after last Base Rate increase (Philadelphia, Pa. – February 27, 2017) – Philadelphia Gas Works (PGW) today announced that it has filed a base rate case with the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission (PUC). The filing, PGW's first in eight years, requests permission to increase rates by $70 million per year. If the request is granted, the bill for an average residential customer using 76 thousand cubic feet (Mcf) of natural gas per year would increase by about $2.44 a week. At this new rate, residential customers would pay $2.55 less per week than they did for the same amount of natural gas when rates were last adjusted, in 2010.

"We recognize the pressures on hardworking families and businesses in Philadelphia. That's why we've worked so hard to reduce our operating costs and identify new sources of revenue since our last rate increase," said Craig White, president and CEO of PGW. "However, changes in the local economy and rising regulatory, healthcare and equipment costs mean that this request is necessary so PGW can continue to safely provide gas service to our neighbors."

Since 2010, PGW has put changes in place that have avoided over $75 million in healthcare costs, cut borrowing needs by over $185 million, and eliminated over $340 million of long-term debt. In addition, the way PGW manages its operations and finances has led to improved bond ratings, the net result of which is that we save $72 million in debt service payments, on behalf of our customers. Despite these and other cost control measures at PGW, service-line work related to the company's infrastructure upgrade project, dynamic weather patterns, a flat customer base have meant a decline in sales volume and a net increase in operating costs.

"Since the last base rate increase, winters have become warmer and appliances and homes are more energy efficient," said White. "That combination has caused our sales volume to drop by over 11% since 2009. To absorb that change, and others, while continuing to ensure that Philadelphia benefits from safe, reliable gas service we always look for cost savings and new revenue sources first. While that has delayed our base rate case, we now have no option but to request an increase.”

In addition to PGW’s efforts to increase top-line revenue – including its successful LNG sales pilot program – the company is also asking the PUC to approve the implementation of a new Technology and Economic Development Rider. Designed to boost economic development, enhance revenue and support local job creation, the rider will expand the use of natural gas by giving customers access to more energy options, including combined heat and power projects, natural gas vehicles, and fuel cells.

For small and medium sized commercial properties, PGW is asking the PUC to approve a pilot Micro-Combined Heat and Power (Micro-CHP) Incentive Program that will provide new incentives to increase the ability of qualifying customers to expand natural gas use.

Information on PGW’s Base Rate request can be found at www.pgworks.com including options for challenging the company’s request to change its rates.

PHILADELPHIA GAS WORKS

NOTICE OF PROPOSED RATE CHANGES

To Our Customers:

PGW is filing a request with the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission (PUC) to increase your natural gas rates as of April 28, 2017. This notice describes the Company's rate request, the PUC's role, and what actions you can take.

PGW has requested an overall rate increase of $70 million per year. If the Company's entire request is approved, the total bill for a residential customer using 76 thousand cubic feet (Mcf) per year would increase from $94.06 to $104.65 per month or by 11.3%.

The total bill for a commercial customer using 332 Mcf per year would increase from $327.07 to $342.15 per month or by 4.6%.

Rates for an industrial customer using 717 Mcf per year would decrease from $712.81 to $694.58 per month or by (2.6)%.

To find out your customer class or how the requested increase may affect your natural gas bill, contact PGW at 215-235-1000. The rates requested by the Company may be found in Gas Service Tariff, Pa. P.U.C. No. 2, Supplement No. 100. You may examine the material filed with the PUC, which explains the requested increase and the reasons for it. A copy of this material is kept at PGW's office. Upon request, the Company will send you the Statement of Reasons for Gas Service Tariff, Pa. P.U.C. No. 2, Supplement No. 100, explaining why the rate increase has been requested. A copy can also be viewed by visiting pgworks.com.

The state agency which approves rates for public utilities is the PUC. The PUC will examine the requested rate increase and can prevent existing rates from changing until it investigates and/or holds hearings on the request. The Company must prove that the requested rates are reasonable. After examining the evidence, the PUC may grant all, some, or none of the request or may reduce existing rates.

The PUC may change the amount of the rate increase or decrease requested by the utility for each customer class. As a result, the rate charged to you may be different than the rate requested by the Company and shown above.

There are three ways to challenge a company's request to change its rates:

1. You can file a formal complaint. If you want a hearing before a judge, you must file a formal complaint.

By filing a formal complaint, you assure yourself the opportunity to take part in hearings about the rate increase request. All complaints should be filed with the PUC before April 28, 2017. If no formal complaints are filed, the Commission may grant all, some or none of the request without holding a hearing before a judge.

2. You can send the PUC a letter telling why you object to the requested rate increase. Sometimes there is information in these letters that makes the PUC aware of problems with the Company's service or management. This information can be helpful when the PUC investigates the rate request.

Send your letter or request for a formal complaint form to the:

Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission
Post Office Box 3265
Harrisburg, PA 17105-3265

Complaint forms can also be accessed at the PUC website in Adobe Acrobat (PDF) format: http://www.puc.state.pa.us/general/onlineforms/pdf/Formal_Complaint_Proposed_Rate_Increase.pdf.

3. You can be a witness at a public input hearing.

Public input hearings are held if the Commission opens an investigation of the Company's rate increase request and if there is a large number of customers interested in the case. At these hearings you have the opportunity to present your views in person to the PUC judge hearing the case and the Company representatives. All testimony given "under oath" becomes part of the official rate case record. These hearings are held in the service area of the Company.

For more information, call the PUC at 1-800-692-7380. You may leave your name and address so you can be notified of any public input hearings that may be scheduled in this case.
