Re: Application of Mondre Energy, Inc. for an EGS License;
Docket No. A-2010-XXXXXXX

Dear Secretary Chiavetta:

On behalf of Mondre Energy, Inc. ("Mondre Energy"), enclosed are the original and three copies of its public application for approval to offer, render, furnish or supply electricity and related services as an electric generation supplier ("EGS") to the public in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. Also enclosed is one electronic copy on a CD-ROM disk, and a check in the amount of $350.00 for payment of the application fee.

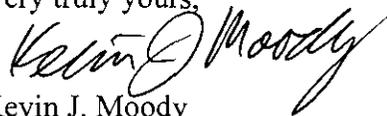

Please note that application responses containing confidential information are marked "Confidential" and furnished (one copy) in a separate envelope along with the original application. Mondre Energy is a Subchapter S Corporation owned and operated by its sole shareholder. Mondre Energy is not subject to any public reporting requirements with respect to its financial information, except to the extent required by federal, state or local taxing authorities. Mondre Energy does not publish or otherwise make available for use by the general public or its competitors its financial or tax information, nor has it ever done so in the past. Accordingly, Mondre Energy respectfully requests the Commission to maintain the confidentiality of the information marked as such.

Please forward a Docket Number to my attention as soon as possible so we can publish the legal notices as required by the PUC's regulations. Proof of legal notice will be forwarded under separate cover as available.

Rosemary Chiavetta, Secretary

STEVEN F. MILLER, PE

Vice President, Product Development/Engineering

Steven Miller is a registered professional engineer (PA No. PE033872E) with extensive experience in all phases of industrial and commercial utility systems planning and evaluation, including: heat pumps, heat recovery, process and space cooling, cogeneration, and alternative energy systems. With a Masters degree in Finance, he brings a strong combination of technical and financial expertise to clients.

He is also part of MEI’s team of experts serving on the Statewide Evaluation Team for Act 129. In this capacity, Mr. Miller conducts baseline energy use studies, models projections for energy efficiency programs, and develops measurement and verification methods that comply with industry standards while also reflecting unique client situations.

Mr. Miller’s background includes designing and managing industrial energy audits and energy conservation programs, with an emphasis on technical and financial evaluation, scope development, and vendor selection. He has led economic and technical feasibility studies for cogeneration systems and alternative energy projects such as petroleum coke gasification and advanced fluidized bed technology. Mr. Miller managed natural gas procurement and developed a natural gas price hedging strategy for an industrial cogeneration facility that consumed more than eight billion cubic feet of natural gas per year.

Mr. Miller has conducted assessments of industrial and commercial cogeneration projects including optimal dispatching programs to maximize savings under various electric utility tariffs.

He served as lead engineer on the financial analysis, redesign and construction of industrial fuel, water, compressed air and steam distribution systems to reduce energy cost and maximize throughput. A heat pump heat recovery system designed by Mr. Miller for two industrial facilities reduced hot water costs by 80 percent.

Mr. Miller holds an MS in Finance from Drexel University, and a BS in Mechanical Engineering from the University of Pennsylvania.

STANLEY R. FORCZEK

Vice President, Energy Procurement and Management

Stanley Forczek offers MEI clients over two decades of experience in energy planning, procurement, and management, including more than 15 years with Amtrak where his responsibilities included the economic dispatch of a 1,200-mile electric transmission network and power pool. Mr. Forczek has extensive experience with electric regulatory bodies (PJM, NY-ISO, ISO-NE, FERC) and several State Commissions on issues such as market development, transmission utilization, transmission overbuild, generation development, and as an expert witness. While at Amtrak, Mr. Forczek was responsible for an annual energy budget of more than $300 million. He established guidelines and business models for an integrated energy management system, and developed several projects to monetize energy asset capabilities throughout the national system. His procurement strategies saved Amtrak tens of millions of dollars. Over his career, Mr. Forczek has procured approximately 500 megawatts of electricity and more than 580,000 decatherms of natural gas.

Mr. Forczek has managed energy procurements for large-scale institutional users, handling all phases from presentation and negotiation, through execution of procurement contracts and management of the supply relationships after implementation. While he has particular experience in the mid-Atlantic and New England regions, Mr. Forczek has directed supply solicitations throughout the United States. Mr. Forczek provides in-depth understanding of the dynamics of regional and global energy markets, as well as the supporting infrastructure from both the supplier and client perspective. He has developed strategic partnerships with generation developers, assisting them through the regulatory process. As a facilitator and coordinator he has worked closely with all major utility companies on design, construction, asset acquisition, interconnection agreements and economic tariff design. His strong analytical skills help to interpret operational performance in financial terms, which he supplements with experience in auditing, finance, administration, and asset valuation.

Mr. Forczek holds an Executive MBA from the University of Virginia, Darden School of Business. He earned a BS in Accounting from Fairleigh Dickinson University, and completed course work at the University of Illinois on Energy Engineering Business Strategies.

KENNETH R. YOUNG

Project Manager, Database and Software Development

Ken Young has more than 20 years experience in the electric utility and avionics industries. At Mondre Energy, Mr. Young is responsible for developing and adapting decision-support software within clients' organizations. He works with engineers, IT personnel, and management to identify enterprise-wide and inter-departmental needs and to create technology solutions.

For example, Mr. Young developed a utility tracking database that allowed a client to select a utility type by facility. The system conducted instant bill reconciliations using built-in tariff rates that saved the client millions of dollars. Numerous reporting capabilities supported management decision-making, procurement activities, strategic planning, Greenhouse Gas (GHG) calculations, and baseline development for energy services projects.

Mr. Young has developed bundled and unbundled tariff models and auditing capability for utilities in Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Maryland, Illinois, Massachusetts and New York. These models support bill auditing, tariff analysis, development of "shopping credits," and evaluation of the impact of deregulation and commodity purchasing.

Mr. Young's market analysis of the electricity markets in the PEPCO, BGE, and Allegheny service territories supported the procurement of third party electricity for Montgomery County, MD, and surrounding municipalities. The County solicited and evaluated bids using a database software package developed for the purpose of evaluating multiple bids on different sets of accounts.

Mr. Young's background includes work with PECO Energy, an Exelon company, where he supported the design and operation of nuclear facilities, including the development of databases for reactor control blade exposure and special nuclear material tracking. While there, Mr. Young was also responsible for conducting plant assessments to ensure safety and regulatory compliance. Mr. Young holds a B.S. in Nuclear Engineering from Penn State.

ANDREW HEATLEY

Energy Finance Analyst

Mr. Heatley specializes in energy business and finance issues. He recently earned a BS in Energy Business and Finance from Pennsylvania State University, for which he focused on areas including energy economics; global and strategic financing in the energy sector, and risk management for energy industries. At Mondre Energy, Mr. Heatley provides financial analysis to support development of comprehensive energy plans for clients. Other areas of focus include electric utility economics; alternative energy economics and finance; determining cost-effectiveness of energy conservation; the economics of energy market restructuring; and other issues related to energy finance and economics. In addition to his educational background in energy finance and economics, Mr. Heatley is a veteran of the United States Air Force, where he served primarily as an avionics expert.

JAMES WATKINS

Information Technology

Mr. Watkins brings more than ten years experience in almost all phases of software development, database management, and information technology software and hardware services in a variety of industry settings including banking and finance, travel, education, and wireless and Internet services. He is Linux certified, and has particular expertise in web-based applications. At Mondre Energy, Mr. Watkins is responsible for developing software that clients use to monitor energy usage and pricing. He works closely with clients to implement and manage these applications, and provides ongoing support.

Mr. Watkins has extensive experience with a wide variety of software including: Cent OS Linux 4.5, Windows 2003 Server, Apache 2, PHP 4 & 5, MySQL 5 (Configuration), Zabbix, Weblogic 8.1 Unix, Tomcat, Siteminder 5.5 & 6, Red Hat AS 3 & 4, HPUX 11i, Brio/Hyperion reporting, Psynch 8, Solaris 2.6 – 2.8, Cisco IOS, Weblogic express 6.1 – 8, Netscape enterprise, Oracle 8i, Open SSL, PHP, Perl, cURL, HTML, XML, Palm OS with wireless extensions, IPchains firewalls, and MS SQL 7. His hardware experience includes: Cisco 1700 routers, Cisco CE-500 traffic shaping switches, HP Procurve 400m switches, Juniper Networks Firewalls, X86 raid based servers, Cisco 2900 switches, F5 Big IP load balancers, Ipivot/Intel SSL accelerators, Brocade Silksworm SAN switches, Cisco 2900 & 3900 switches, Cisco Content Services Switches, Alteon/Nortel load balancing Switches, Sun/Cobalt RAQ, and Netscreen Firewalls.

WILLIAM MEADE

Grant/Technical Support/Data Analyst

Mr. Meade leads Mondre Energy's grant writing division with a unique combination of private sector and federal government experience. In this role, Mr. Meade provides clients with access to a diverse network of federal, state, and local grants/other reimbursable programs. Mr. Meade also serves as a data analyst for MEI's work as a PA State Evaluator for Act 129. In this capacity, Mr. Meade participates in the annual evaluations of the state's electrical distribution companies, develops analytical frameworks for measurement and verification, standardizing data formats, and comparing actual performance against statewide standards.

Prior to joining Mondre, Mr. Meade implemented and managed the comprehensive shareholder relations program for the nation's second largest publicly traded water utility, Aqua America Inc. He also served as a Legislative Assistant at the U.S. Small Business Administration (SBA), where he expedited $93.1 million in Congressional grants as a result of cultivating key relationships. In this position, he played a vital role in securing $21 billion for the Agency's various loan programs.

Mr. Meade received his bachelor's degree from Tulane University in New Orleans, Louisiana, and in August 2009 he completed post graduate studies at the University of Pennsylvania's Wharton School of Business.

ANGELIA EPPS

Data Analyst

Ms. Epps provides data support and analysis for MEI clients including reconciliation and resolution of disputes. Ms. Epps previously served as a senior Customer and Marketing Services Representative at PECO Energy, an Exelon Company, including overall account management, contract renewals, collections, and transaction tracking for industrial, commercial, and residential customers.

MARGARET MARY "PEG" COLEY

Office Administrator

Trained in Medical Secretarial Studies at Gwynedd-Mercy College, Ms. Coley brings a wealth of experience in overseeing the efficient flow of information and communication between clients and the staff of complex organizations. She is responsible for Mondre Energy's financial record keeping and operations, oversees the company's insurance and benefits plans, and acts as a liaison with clients' financial and contract administration staffs. Ms. Coley's professional credentials include service as an executive assistant in the legal, health care and human resource fields, at large law firms, major teaching hospitals and a large-market daily newspaper. In the course of those positions, she has developed skills in project management, monitoring contract compliance, benefits and human resource administration, and in organizing people, paper and data.

The following Persons Assist Mondre Energy on a Part Time Basis

RICHARD WELLS

Communications/Marketing

Richard Wells has more than 20 years experience in all phases of communications, public affairs, public relations, and marketing. His career began as the public relations director for The Center for Literacy in Philadelphia, a non-profit agency working to teach adults to read. In the late 1980s, Richard became part of the healthcare industry in southeastern Pennsylvania, including sixteen years with Main Line Health, one of the largest multi-hospital systems in Pennsylvania.

At Main Line Health, Richard was responsible for internal and external corporate communications, media relations, community and government relations, and crisis communications for a billion-dollar organization with more than 8,000 employees. He was a member of the senior management team and reported directly to the CEO. He worked closely with both the Marketing Department and the Human Resources Department, for which he also became an in-house management trainer.

In 2007, Richard left Main Line Health to become the principal and co-founder of The Wellynn Group, a consulting practice in public affairs, marketing, and communications. Richard holds an English degree from the University of Virginia and an MBA from St. Joseph's University in Philadelphia.

BRADFORD M. STERN, Esq.

Attorney

Mr. Stern specializes in strategic management, commodity procurement, electric power industry restructuring, and demand-side management on behalf of public and private energy consumers. Mr. Stern's legal experience includes associate positions in the public utility and energy practice groups of Buchanan Ingersoll, Princeton, NJ and McManimon & Scotland, Newark, NJ. He also worked as a supervising licensing engineer with United Engineers & Constructors, Philadelphia, PA, specializing in the siting and licensing of large-scale power production facilities.

Mr. Stern formerly served as a senior vice president at Mondre Energy, and is currently a partner in Rothfelder Stern, L.L.C., a firm specializing in regulatory, legislative, administrative, transactional, contract and litigation matters involving the electric, gas, telecommunications, cable television, water, wastewater industries and solid waste industries. The firm has represented public and private entities in New Jersey, New Hampshire, Maine, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York, Pennsylvania, Missouri, California and other states on matters including:

- Utility Deregulation Proceedings
- Demand-Side Services Contracts

- Supply Contracts
- Project Finance and Development
- Utility Rate Cases
- Contract Dispute Resolution
- Aggregated Purchase Programs
- Rulemaking Proposals
- Utility Bankruptcy Proceedings
- Utility Merger and Acquisition Proceedings
- Utility Adjustment Clause Proceedings
- Customer Complaint Proceedings
- Energy Legislation

Mr. Stern received his law degree from the Rutgers University School of Law-Camden. He received a Master of Arts in Environmental Affairs, and a Bachelor in Arts in Biology, both from Clark University Worcester, MA. He is admitted to practice law in New Jersey and Pennsylvania. He is a member of the American Bar Association, and is a registered New Jersey lobbyist.

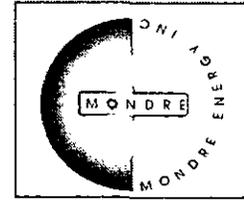

MARJORIE SINGER OCHROCH, Esq.

Attorney

Marjorie Ochroch brings extensive legal experience in the energy field, focusing on energy reduction and regulatory efficiency programs for large end users in both the public and private sector. Ms. Ochroch fulfills virtually all legal needs for energy clients including: preparation of corporate papers, general corporate matters, negotiating contracts, addressed employment issues, prepared non-disclosure agreements and negotiating leases. She has served as project manager for large commercial aggregation procurements involving a total of four billion kilowatt hours, equaling $350 to $400 million in electricity costs. She has prepared RFPs for procurements of gas, oil and electricity and drafted, negotiated and documented energy supply agreements for clients, including large municipalities and private corporations. She counsels on disputes with utilities and in regulatory proceedings, and has assisted on local rate proceedings for both private and municipal entities concerned about rising energy costs. Ms. Ochroch has handled contract disputes and settlement negotiations on behalf of clients, and has drafted and negotiated licensing agreements for energy management software created by MEI.

Beyond the energy sector, Ms. Ochroch has extensive experience in all phases of general corporate law, including formation, insurance, ownership structure, shareholder disputes, tax, contract and zoning issues. She served as a supervisor for Clinical Faculty for the Small Business Clinic at the University of Pennsylvania School of Law.

She earned her law degree from the Villanova University School of Law, Villanova, PA, and holds an undergraduate degree in Philosophy (with a minor in Political Science) from Emory University, Atlanta, GA. She is admitted to practice in Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

Mondre Energy, Inc. Services

Mondre Energy, Inc. (MEI) provides all facets of energy conservation, cost-control, and procurement strategies for industry, education, government, and non-profit sectors.

MEI is a woman-owned business that brings to our clients an experienced and highly skilled team of analysts, engineers, and information technology specialists, under the leadership of Judith Mondre, MEI's founder and a pioneer in the field of energy conservation and cost control.

In addition to the experience of our team, Mondre Energy offers clients a unique tool we call the Mondre Energy Insight System©, a web-based system that allows clients to fully understand their energy usage, and which forms the basis of sound decision making about energy use, procurement, and investment.

MEI was recently named as one of only three energy consultants to serve as statewide evaluators for Pennsylvania's Act 129. In this role, Mondre Energy evaluates the effectiveness of energy efficiency and demand reduction programs implemented by the state's electric distribution companies. MEI is also working in the State of Maryland's Power Plant Research Program, providing expertise in a broad range of areas such as electric utility economics, power plant design and operation, load forecasting, alternative generating technologies, and the economics of carbon trading.

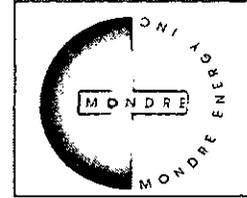

Since 1998, MEI clients have saved more than $200 million in energy costs, through a combination of strategies that include:

ENERGY AUDITS AND ANALYSIS

Strategic Energy Management Plan Development and Implementation.

MEI's energy planning process begins with facility energy audits and feasibility studies of energy efficiency measures. MEI uses its analytical, engineering, legal, regulatory, and financial expertise to develop comprehensive energy programs that incorporate best practices, innovative procedures, and support for key management and facility personnel. MEI strategies are flexible, specific, and custom-designed for each client in a way that provides quantifiable and verifiable benchmarks for success.

Load Profile Analysis. MEI evaluates energy use and demand patterns to find opportunities for improvement. We identify and correct operational issues to ensure that each client facility is functioning at maximum energy efficiency.

Account Reconciliation and Bill Auditing. Utilities and suppliers generate thousands of billing statements. In our experience, errors are not uncommon, and can often represent significant costs to clients. MEI's Energy Insight System[®] analyzes client utility bills and verifies their accuracy. When errors are discovered, we help clients get refunds or adjustments.

Measurement and Monitoring. MEI's baseline studies of facility energy usage help to identify cost-reduction and efficiency-improvement opportunities. We develop measurement and monitoring strategies so clients can better manage energy consumption and cost, including the capability for remote, web-based control of building energy systems.

Cost and Rate Analysis. Where a project involves rate modeling or calculations, MEI will verify the accuracy of the model by using inputs from customer utility bills and comparing the model output with the actual bill.

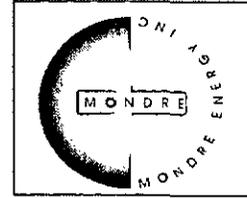

New Technology Analysis. MEI helps clients achieve significant savings using new types of biodiesel motor fuels and heating oils, as well as with new lighting technologies and more sophisticated building control systems. Through "peak demand curtailment" we help clients achieve financial gains when suppliers buy back unused peak power from the client.

Project Financing Analysis and Project Management. MEI understands the multiple financing options clients can face in making capital investments for energy. Whether clients are considering internal funds, debt financing, lease or lease-purchase agreements, or energy performance contracts, MEI helps achieve additional cost savings by structuring financing arrangements that yield net positive cash flow as quickly as possible.

PROCUREMENT

Experience in Energy Markets. Mondre Energy has extensive experience in procuring electricity, natural gas, oil, and alternative energy sources for large-scale institutional clients in multiple states. We carefully monitor national and international energy markets, and are aggressive in achieving significant discounts for clients when energy can be purchased from competing suppliers.

Commodity Hedging Programs. MEI helps clients manage volatile energy prices in a rapidly shifting regulatory environment. MEI's comprehensive hedging programs can yield significant savings and allow better control of energy costs. MEI has been very successful in using hedging strategies to limit client exposure to energy price fluctuations.

Rate Management. Many larger energy users are not aware that multiple billing options and rates can be negotiated with utility companies. Using a “tariff strategy,” MEI has helped many clients identify and take advantage of billing options that can lower costs and improve financial management.

Green Power Initiatives. MEI helps clients take advantage of financial and environmental opportunities available for renewable power sources. MEI feasibility studies help clients develop and/or acquire wind power and alternative energy solutions. MEI evaluates the efficacy and effectiveness of other renewable energy technologies including solar energy, fuel cells, geothermal energy, hydropower, and wind power. MEI’s portfolio of energy efficiency measures and renewable energy technologies can help many types of facilities achieve Zero Energy Building status.

CONSERVATION

Demand Side Management & Energy Conservation Measures. MEI presents creative solutions to minimize energy consumption or change usage patterns. Our engineers and analysts assess client utility consumption and frequently identify significant savings opportunities. We detail energy usage by category (lighting, HVAC, motors and controls, etc.) and can assess capital improvements related to energy usage to identify and prioritize projects with the most beneficial paybacks.

MEI is fully certified as a Women Business Enterprise (WBE) by the Women’s Business Enterprise Center in partnership with the Women’s Business Enterprise Council. MEI is registered as a Minority Enterprise and/or Disadvantaged Business Enterprise (MBE/DBE) in Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, and Florida. MEI is also a GSA scheduled woman-owned, small business contractor listed with the following Special Item Number(s) (SINs):

- SIN 871 202 – Energy Management Planning and Strategies
- SIN 871 205 – Energy Program Support Services
- SIN 871 207 – Energy Audit Services
- SIN 871 208 - Resource Efficiency Management (REM)
- SIN 871 209 – Innovations in Energy
- SIN 003 97 – Ancillary Repair and Alteration
- SIN 800 1000 – Other Direct Costs

Since 1998 Mondre Energy, Inc. has built a solid reputation for quality and service among major corporations, state and local governments, hospitals, colleges and universities, schools, arenas, and trade associations, just to name a few. We work closely and collaboratively with our clients on the energy issues that affect their growth, profitability, and community and environmental impact.
