Dear Sir or Madam Secretary,

I am writing to file a written response to attempt to correct what I feel are erroneous statements in reference to PAPUC Docket # C-2011-2256361. I wish to re-iterate some simple facts about a high-voltage electrical repair, that was done upon premises that my family owns at 120 Orchard Way, Pottstown Pa. 19465, on Sunday, June 26, 2011. The facts are that my property was posted No Trespassing, and that PECO linemen, without proper authorization, entered the premises, and did splicing to this line unsafely, that resulted in a large electrical fire. Over and over, I have requested that PECO provide authorization, and have waited patiently. Over and over, PECO has denied responsibility for the installation. Why then are they continuing to service this line, in an obviously unsafe manner? It was made clear to the field supervisor present that the line was grounding in SEVERAL places, and should NOT have been re-energized. The reply I was given was, "We have to keep the meter spinning". I wish to know by what legal or ethical grounds, that servicemen can enter my premises, conduct a repair on admittedly private property, and cause an electrical fire, and the have the Legal Department deny all responsibility for the work? I have repeatedly asked PECO Energy to cease and desist with their unsafe operation, and repeatedly, by word and deed, they have refused. I will leave this matter for your investigation. Thank You.

Sincerely,

James Stimson
