Re: AT&T Communications of Pennsylvania, LLC, TCG New Jersey, Inc. and TCG
Pittsburgh v. YMax Communications Corp.,
Docket Nos. C-2012-2316641, C-2012-2316797, C-2012-2316803

Dear Secretary Chiavetta:

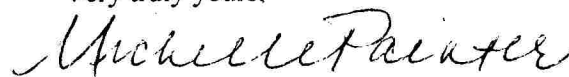

AT&T Communications of Pennsylvania, LLC, TCG New Jersey, Inc. and TCG Pittsburgh (collectively "AT&T") are in receipt of YMax Communications Corp.'s ("YMax") August 28, 2012 letter request to withdraw its tariff changes filed on July 9, 2012 in Docket No. R-2012-2313195.

AT&T will not oppose YMax's withdrawal of the tariff changes. Therefore, AT&T withdraws its formal Complaints filed in the above-referenced dockets.

However, AT&T wants to make it clear to the Commission and to YMax that AT&T (i) continues to have substantial and valid concerns regarding the legality of YMax's existing access tariff regarding (or applied to) VoIP-PSTN traffic; (ii) contends that the end office switching charges that YMax has consistently billed to AT&T (and apparently will continue to bill to AT&T) are flatly inconsistent with both YMax's switched access tariffs and with the orders and rules of the FCC, because, among other things, YMax does not provide end office switching; and (iii) intends to continue to dispute and withhold payment of any unlawful YMax switched access charges on those grounds, i.e., that YMax is billing those charges in violation of its tariffs and of FCC rules and orders.

Please contact me if you have any questions or concerns with this matter.

Very truly yours,

Michelle Painter
