SECTION 5 – SERVICE DESCRIPTIONS

5.3 Exchange Service Additional Options (cont'd)

5.3.8 Connectivity and Co-location Service (CCS)

The Company offers physical rack space and high bandwidth connection for a customer-owned equipment to communicate to a server farm or server rack offsite. Subscription to this service requires subscription to rack space and DS1/T-1, DS3, or PRI service to the router or routers, as well as applicable entrance facility charges. This gives the customer the security of a US LEC-maintained high bandwidth connection, and local exchange service. Zone A denotes location of customer-owned equipment within the Company's wire center, while Zone B denotes location of customer-owned equipment on the Company's network, but outside of the Company's wire center.

C

C

SECTION 5 – SERVICE DESCRIPTIONS

5.3 Exchange Service Additional Options (cont'd)

5.3.9 Digital Subscriber Line (DSL)

Digital Subscriber Line Service (DSL) is a data communications service that provides for high-speed connectivity using Symmetric Digital Subscriber Line (SDSL) and ISDN Digital Subscriber Line (IDSL) technology. SDSL provides the customer the ability to transmit data to (upstream rate) and receive data from (downstream rate) a DSL Access Service Connection Point at the same speed using existing copper facilities. A DSL Access Service Connection Point is an interconnection point designated by the company that aggregates data traffic from and to Company DSL-equipped serving wire centers. DSL service may be used for data communications.

C

Five types of DSL service are available based on the synchronous speeds chosen by the customer. Peak speeds are not guaranteed by the Company due to factors that may effect the actual speeds delivered, including the DSL Access Service customer's distance from the company's serving wire center, condition of the existing copper facilities, and the limitations in the telecommunications service provider's network design.

C

DSL Service will be provided over existing local exchange service facilities. When the customer orders DSL Service, the rates and charges are in addition to any rates and regulations that apply for the associated local service line provided under the terms and conditions of this tariff

SECTION 7 - OTHER SERVICE ARRANGEMENTS

7.4 Dynamic T II

The Dynamic T II service provides customers with 1.0 to 3.0 Mbps of highly flexible, high capacity bandwidth that can be dynamically changed from up to 24 channels of voice capacity to 3.0 Mbps of Internet or MPLS VPN bandwidth or any combination of either at any given moment. These voice and/or data services are provisioned on one or two T-1s utilizing US LEC Gateways and Managed Integrated Access Devices (IAD) that allow intermingling of the voice and Internet on the T-1 which can total up to, but not exceed, 3.0 Mbps. The service can be converted to lines, PRI or T-1 to interface with the customer's existing equipment. Exchange Access Optional services and Miscellaneous Service rates contained in Sections 6 and 8 of this tariff are not included in Dynamic T II monthly recurring rates. All Dynamic T II configurations are subject to a minimum 1-year term commitment. An analog gateway is required for analog line terminations. Dynamic T II Customer Voice traffic has priority over Internet traffic. Dynamic T II Customers may elect to have the service handed off to them in SIP IP protocol.
