Re: Dennis B. Lauder d/b/a Little Chief Lumber
A-00109661

Dear Mr. Bingaman:

I am writing on behalf of Dennis Lauder, who has PUC operating authority under the name of Little Chief Lumber. I am writing in order to request guidance and assistance so as to enable my client to cancel the operating authority in question.

Little Chief Lumber has held PUC operating authority for some time, but for the past 10 years it has not engaged in operations, but instead has just kept the authority "active" by paying the annual assessment each year. It has had no operations of any nature but thought it would be helpful and wise to have the operating authority in case there should be a need to reactivate trucking operations. It is now clear that no such need exists and as a result, my client will be cancelling his insurance and wishes to likewise cancel the operating authority.

If there is some mechanism that can be followed to simply have the authority marked as inactive, we could proceed in that fashion. The facts remain, however, that there are no operations and no reasonable future prospects of operations. Furthermore, Little Chief Lumber will be taking steps to cancel its liability insurance, as it can no longer continue payment on that account.

Very truly yours,

Dwight L. Koerber, Jr.
