The equipment utilized on this project will include tractor trailers, ramps, dollies, flat plates, and most importantly, library carts. Our library carts hold three hundred and forty inches of accessible file space. We possess over one hundred library carts. This allows us to relocate very large file centers without needing cartons. This is why Tab Products would prefer T & N Van Service perform this relocation.

This application was not related to any action by the Commission, such as warning, road check, or investigation. T & N Van Service has a contract with Teamsters 676 at 101 Crescent Blvd., Collingswood, NJ 08109, telephone number 609-964-2101.

Shipper Support Statement

Sir,

General Accident frequently employs the services of T & N Van Service. We have found them to be a reputable firm which provides quality service. General Accident requested T & N Van Service enter a bid on the relocation of the Allentown, PA, Lehigh County office to another site in Bethlehem, PA, Northampton County. T & N Van Service declined to enter a proposal due to the authority issue.

With regard to the relocation of our files, however, we have concerns about the status of this move, as General Accident maintains an extensive file library at this location. The commodities to be relocated in this file library move include more than 30,000 inches of files and the racks on which these files are currently stored. This relocation is presently scheduled to occur between November 12th and November 19th. Having performed many of these file relocations, we have learned it is critically important to have the proper equipment, sufficient quantity of equipment, and experience handling this sort of project. The proper equipment for this project is the "library cart" which holds hundreds of inches of file space per cart and allows the files to remain accessible while in transit, waiting for new racking to be built, and waiting for the files to be transferred to new racking, which can be a considerable amount of time. It is our understanding that the local movers who proposed to relocate the files are unable to perform the move as specified by Tab Products Co., who is coordinating this segment of the move.

Failure to secure the services of a mover who can perform the relocation of the file library as specified could have disastrous ramifications for General Accident. It is our experience that having unqualified movers performing such a project could lead to extensive down time while our actively used files sit sealed in boxes, incurrance of excessive labor and carton charges while thousands of cartons are delivered, packed, moved, unpacked, and disposed, and increased likelihood of error which will require expensive corrective efforts later.

In light of the detrimental aspects of using a mover who is not able to perform the move as specified, we at General Accident support T & N Van Service's request to gain temporary authority to relocate our file library in Allentown, PA.

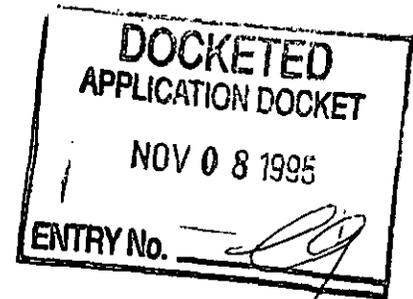

In keeping with the requirements of the Statements of Supporting Shippers, Appendix B, the following information is provided. General Accident makes moves similar to this one, though smaller in size several times a year. General Accident has not supported a request for authority by T & N Van Service in the past. General Accident, however, would support T & N Van Service's application for permanent authority. There are no unions involved with this relocation.

Sincerely,

Dear Mr. Marzolf:

This letter is to inform you of our decision to support T & N Van Service for the upcoming file library relocation of General Accident Insurance's records. TAB Products is coordinating this relocation of their files. Their file rooms are moving from Allentown to another facility in Bethlehem. This move is planned for the period between November, 12, 1995 and November 19, 1995.

TAB Products utilizes the services of T & N Van Service approximately six to eight times per year to relocate file rooms by truck, however, moves of this size of 30,000 filing inches are uncommon. We foresee the need for this service continuing with similar frequency. TAB Products would support a permanent authority application by T & N Van Service. TAB Products has not supported any such applications in the past. There are no labor unions involved with this relocation.

To provide some background on this move, TAB Products initially requested T & N Van Service provide us with a cost factor to do this relocation. T & N could provide the trucks, labor, and library cars necessary for this move. We also discussed this move with both Fisher-Hughes of Allentown and O'Brien Van Lines of Allentown. Both of these companies could not perform the move as specified because they lacked sufficient quantity of library carts.

If we are unable to secure the services of a mover capable of providing a sufficient quantity of library carts, the following problems would ensue: there will be extensive down time, while actively used files sit idly in moving boxes. The files remain accessible while on library carts. There will be excessive labor and carton charges for delivery, packing, moving, unpacking, and disposal of thousands of cartons. Lastly, when moving this many sequential files in this manner, there is a greater likelihood for error than when using library carts. Error will result in costly corrective efforts later. In addition, the client requested that library carts be utilized.

In as much that Allentown area movers we have contacted are unable to perform this move as specified, we hope T & N Van Service will be granted this authority.

Sincerely,

Kathy Ebert

Sir,

Pursuant to our telephone conversation on Wednesday, November 1st 1995, I am writing this letter to provide you with the information you requested. The topic of our conversation was T&N Van Service's request to acquire Temporary Emergency Authority to perform a file library move from Allentown, PA to ~~Allentown, PA.~~

Bethlehem

The service to be performed is the relocation of General Accidents File library center in Allentown, PA to another site also in Allentown, PA. The firm of Tab Products has been contracted by General Accident to facilitate the relocation of the file library center.

Tab Products will pack the files onto carts provided by the mover. Tab Products will then disassemble the existing file racks. The file racks and carts loaded with files are then delivered to the destination by the mover. At the destination, Tab Products will reconstruct the file racks and reload the files onto the racks. The mover will remove the carts at the conclusion of this phase of the move.

Tab Products had requested T&N Van Service perform this project because the local movers who submitted proposals to perform this relocation do not possess the equipment to do this job as specified. Tab Products is concerned that if an unqualified mover attempts to perform this relocation, they and the shipper, General Accident, will be unfairly harmed by manner in which the move is completed. Therefore, T&N Service has entered our request to be granted Temporary Emergency Authority being that T&N Van Service has the equipment and experience to provide this service. We would like the opportunity to serve the legitimate need of the shipper with whom we have an ongoing relationship.

Trusting this information is satisfactory,
