PECO Energy Company's Identification of Expert Witnesses and Summary of Expert Witness Testimony

PECO has received a hearing notice in this matter for an Initial Hearing to occur on Tuesday, March 8, 2016 at 2:00 p.m. No Prehearing Order has yet issued in this proceeding. Nonetheless, in many cases before the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission the parties identify their expert witnesses approximately two weeks before the hearing date.¹

For the convenience of the Complainant and presiding officer Administrative Law Judge Eranda Vero, PECO wishes to voluntarily identify the four expert witnesses whose testimony it will present at the March 8, 2016 hearing in this matter:

Brenda Eison, Manager, Customer Care, PECO Energy Company. Business Address: PECO Energy Company, 2301 Market Street, Philadelphia, PA 19103. Ms. Eison will testify regarding the PECO process for notifying and working with customers regarding the change to AMI meters, as well as discussions and contacts between PECO and Ms. Kreider.

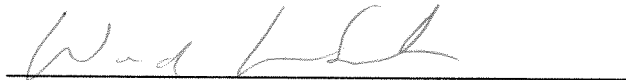

Glenn Pritchard, Manager, Advanced Grid Operations, PECO Energy Company. Business Address: PECO Energy Company, 2301 Market Street, Philadelphia, PA 19103. Mr. Pritchard will testify regarding the design and operations of PECO's existing AMR meter system, including the radio frequency fields associated with that system. He will also testify regarding the design and operations of PECO's new AMI meter system, including the radio frequency fields associated with that system, and that the PECO AMI system is in compliance with all applicable FCC standards.

¹ For example, Susan Kreider v. PECO, C-2015-2469655, which also involves a claim that PECO's AMI meters cause adverse health effects, is scheduled for hearing on March 7, 2016, one day before the hearing in the instant proceeding. Administrative Law Judge Darlene D. Heep's Prehearing Order in that case requires the parties to exchange expert witness information by February 24, 2016. PECO is voluntarily following that same schedule in the instant docket.

Christopher C. Davis, Ph.D., Professor of Engineering, University of Maryland. Business Address: University of Maryland, Electrical and Computer Engineering, 2124 Jeong H. Kim Engineering Bldg, College Park, MD 20742. Dr. Davis will testify to the methods for determining a person's exposure to radio frequency fields; whether there is an established biophysical/biological mechanism for how radio frequency fields from AMR or AMI systems could cause adverse effects in humans; and how the radio-frequency fields from PECO's existing AMR system and new AMI system compare to the FCC's radio-frequency exposure standards for those devices and also to radio frequency field exposures encountered in everyday life.

Dr. Mark Israel, M.D., Professor of Medicine, Dartmouth Medical School. Business Address: 1 Medical Center, Lebanon, NH 03756. Dr. Israel will testify about medical and scientific studies of radio frequency fields and health, and that there is no reliable medical or scientific basis for concluding that radio frequency fields from PECO's AMI meters will cause or contribute to adverse health effects generally or to the specific conditions identified by Complainant.

Respectfully submitted,
