To Whom it May Concern:

This letter is in response to a letter we received dated March 25, 2016. The letter states that a fine of 500.00 is due. We respectfully ask that the fine be withdrawn. It was brought to our attention a year ago that the insurance agent hadn't filed the cargo insurance. We had filed it immediately and checked back and the response was that nothing further had to be done. It was taken care of and we did not need to respond further and there were no fines to be paid, or actions needed on our part. Now a year later we get a letter saying that a fine does need to be paid? So we question what we are to believe? If you could check into this further, we would appreciate it.

Thank You,

Gary L. Hoover
