ADVANTAGES

Competition

- By introducing competition into the bidding process, suppliers are forced to sharpen their pencils if they want to win the business. The final bid of their live auction will be 10-20% lower than the best bid obtained one by one from the same suppliers.

Speed

- Through the auction platform, you will engage many suppliers in a fraction of the time it takes to engage one supplier without the auction. Technology automates the traditional RFP paper process into a faster, more efficient procurement solution.

Transparency

- The competitive auction platform is the only way to level the playing field among suppliers, and you witness the results LIVE. See your energy prices drop right before your eyes.

Control

- Set your contract terms before the auction happens, instead of after you receive a bid as with traditional energy procurement. Full Control.

Compliance

- For large companies dealing with procurement compliance, there is no faster, more effective way of procurement than a reverse auction. The entire process is completely transparent and unbiased—the winner is the winner. The reverse auction can engage more suppliers in the bidding process faster and more effectively than the traditional RFP method of procurement.
