Re: Antonio Romeo v. PECO Energy Company (C-2015-2479260)

Dear Judge Darlene D. Heep:

I am writing to respectfully request an adjournment of the initial hearing that is presently scheduled for September 12-13, 2017, until the month of January 2018 (or at such other time convenient for the PUC). I am requesting an adjournment for two reasons.

First, on March 1, 2017, well before the Prehearing Order was entered in this matter, I booked a non-refundable trip to Spain and Italy with my family. We will be out of the country with no access to a computer or Internet from July 23rd until August 24th. Under the current Prehearing Order, pre-hearing materials are to be submitted in that same timeframe, August 2017. As such, I will not be able to adequately prepare my case in advance of the September hearing. I am not a lawyer. I am doing my best to follow the Prehearing Order and prepare my case, but I will not be able to do so before I leave for my trip in July. I also will not be here to physically file the required papers with the PUC according to the deadlines in the Order. I called counsel for PECO Energy Company on or around June 2, 2017 to explain my circumstances, but they declined to agree to an adjournment.

Second, I am also in the process of trying to procure legal counsel to represent me in this matter. If I am not able to secure legal counsel, I will need enough time to prepare my case myself.

I thank the PUC in advance for consideration of my request.

Sincerely,
