RE: World Fuel Services, Inc. application to serve as a Natural Gas Supplier

Dear Mr. Foran,

Based on your indication that World Fuel Services, Inc. ("WORLD FUEL") is applying with the State of Pennsylvania to operate as a natural gas supplier, UGI Utilities Inc. ("UGIU") has concluded that WORLD FUEL must post security as specified in the UGI Utilities, Inc.-Gas Division ("UGI"), UGI Penn Natural Gas, Inc. ("PNG") and/or UGI Central Penn Gas, Inc. ("CPG") Supplier Coordination Tariffs before it serves customers on the UGI, PNG and/or CPG distribution systems and in doing so UGIU has determined that WORLD FUEL will have demonstrated adequate creditworthiness to satisfy any costs UGI, PNG and/or CPG may incur in the event they operate as a supplier of last resort due to a default on the part of WORLD FUEL.

This determination may change in the event there is a material deterioration in WORLD FUEL's financial condition, if WORLD FUEL's obligations to UGI, PNG and/or CPG exceed the amount of the financial security provided, if the financial security is withdrawn or is deemed to be null and void or inadequate due to the material financial deterioration of any guarantor, or if WORLD FUEL fails to abide by the terms and conditions of the UGI, PNG and/or CPG Gas Tariffs and the UGI, PNG and/or CPG Natural Gas Supplier Coordination Tariffs.

Please feel free to contact me with any additional questions that you may have. I can be reached at

Dear Mr. McMichael:

We are pleased that World Fuel Services, Inc. has applied for a license to provide natural gas services on the Peoples Group of Companies. Specifically you have requested to be licensed as a supplier on the distribution systems of Peoples Natural Gas Company LLC, Peoples TWP, and Peoples Natural Gas LLC – Equitable Division (“the Companies”).

Since World Fuel Services, Inc. is not currently serving customers on the Peoples systems, we have determined at this time that World Fuel Services, Inc. does not need a bond or other financial security requirement to provide these services to the Company’s customers.

If a Pool is established, and customers are enrolled which alters the creditworthiness requirement or the Company’s exposure to World Fuel Services, Inc. provision of services on the Peoples’ system changes in the future, the Companies may deem it appropriate to require a bond or other financial instrument.

If you have any questions feel free to contact me at 412-208-6528 or by email at Lynda.W.Petrichevich@peoples-gas.com.

Dear Mr. Foran:

We understand that World Fuel Services, Inc. has applied with the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission to supply natural gas services to the public in Pennsylvania including our company's service area.

Because World Fuel Services, Inc. intends to only provide natural gas aggregating, brokering and consulting services at this time, we have determined that World Fuel Services, Inc. will not be required to post a bond or other form of financial security instrument to provide these services in our service area. However, if the services provided change in the future, we reserve the right to require security from World Fuel Services, Inc. as deemed appropriate.

If you have any questions, please contact Mrs. Marjorie Johnston at 570-888-9664.

Dear Matthew Foran:

We are pleased that World Fuel Services, Inc. has applied for a license to provide Natural Gas Broker/Marketer Services on the distribution system of Columbia Gas of Pennsylvania, Inc. ("Columbia Gas").

Under Paragraph 2.4.5 of the Rules Applicable to Distribution Service section of the Tariff of Columbia Gas, World Fuel Services, Inc. could be required to provide to Columbia Gas a bond or other financial security instrument in an amount that Columbia Gas determines to be appropriate. World Fuel Services, Inc. has indicated only brokering and consulting services will be provided. Therefore, we have determined at this time that World Fuel Services, Inc. does not need a bond or other financial security requirement to provide broker natural gas services to Columbia Gas customers.

If the creditworthiness requirement or Columbia Gas' exposure to World Fuel Services, Inc. changes in the future, Columbia Gas might deem it appropriate to require World Fuel Services, Inc. to provide a bond or other financial security instrument.

Please feel free to contact me at 614-460-4881 should you have any questions regarding a bond or other financial security instrument requirements of Columbia Gas.

IN RE:

WORLD FUEL SERVICES, INC.

DOCKET NO. CGP-2015-0010

ORDER APPROVING APPLICATION AND ISSUING CERTIFICATE TO PROVIDE SERVICE TO LARGE AND SMALL VOLUME CUSTOMERS

(Issued April 22, 2016)

On October 23, 2015, World Fuel Services, Inc. (World Fuel), filed an application with the Utilities Board (Board) for a certificate to provide service as a competitive natural gas provider (CNGP) to large and small volume customers in Iowa. World Fuel filed additional information on February 29, March 10, and April 1, 2016. The Board's certification rules provide that the certification application review process is based on a 90-day clock that begins once the applicant is notified that the application is complete. 199 IAC 19.14(4). On March 15, 2016, the Board notified World Fuel that the application was complete and the 90-day review period had begun. The 90-day deadline for granting a certificate to World Fuel is June 13, 2016.

Iowa Code § 476.87 requires that an applicant for a CNGP certificate must reasonably demonstrate that it has the managerial, technical, and financial capability sufficient to obtain and deliver the services it proposes to offer. Subrule 199 IAC 19.14(3) describes the basic information that is required to be provided by an applicant for a CNGP certificate. The Board also has developed application forms that describe additional information that must be provided depending on the type of CNGP service that is proposed to be provided.

When the applicant requests a certificate to serve small volume customers in addition to large volume customers, the Board requires that an applicant file additional information about the applicant's finances and managerial experience. The Board also specifically requires an applicant to provide a roster of officers and directors, a description of the professional backgrounds of principal management and technical personnel, and a description of the services the applicant is proposing to provide.

In support of its application to provide CNGP services to large and small volume customers, World Fuel provided the following information:

- (1) World Fuel is a "C" Corporation organized in the state of Texas.
- (2) World Fuel attached a copy of its Certificate of Authority to transact business in the state of Iowa.
- (3) World Fuel provided the contact information for its principal officers and the telephone number at which World Fuel personnel can be reached 24 hours a day.
- (4) World Fuel has one affiliate, U.S. Energy Services, Inc., engaged in the provision of competitive natural gas services in Iowa.
- (5) World Fuel does not have any legal actions or formal complaints against it regarding the provision of competitive natural gas services that were pending in the 12 months prior to filing its request for certification.

(6) World Fuel made a commitment to comply with all applicable conditions of certification contained in 199 IAC 19.14(5) and (6). World Fuel acknowledged that a failure to comply with all of the applicable conditions of certification may result in revocation of the CNGP certificate.

In addition to the above information, World Fuel provided its balance sheet, income statement, cash flow statement, and shareholders' equity statement. World Fuel also provided a roster of its officers and directors and a description of the professional backgrounds of its principal management and technical personnel.

World Fuel has provided the information required by the Board to meet the statutory and Board rules requirements. Based upon the above information, the Board finds that World Fuel has reasonably demonstrated that it has the managerial, technical, and financial capability sufficient to obtain and deliver CNGP services to large and small volume customers in Iowa. The information shows that World Fuel's management has sufficient knowledge and experience in the natural gas industry to provide the services World Fuel proposes to offer. In addition, the financial information shows that World Fuel has the financial resources to provide CNGP service to Iowa customers.

Since the Board has found that World Fuel has provided sufficient information to meet the requirements in Iowa Code § 476.87 and Board requirements, the Board will grant World Fuel a CNGP certificate to provide service to large and small volume customers in Iowa. Certificate No. G-0048 will be issued concurrently with this order.

IT IS THEREFORE ORDERED:

1. The application filed on October 23, 2015, as supplemented, by World Fuel Services, Inc., for a certificate as a competitive natural gas provider to serve large and small volume customers in Iowa is approved.
2. World Fuel Services, Inc., shall comply with the reporting requirements of 199 IAC 19.14(5) and 19.14(3)(d).
3. Certificate No. G-0048 shall be issued to World Fuel Services, Inc., concurrently with this order.

SECRETARY'S BUREAU

Code of CONDUCT

Our Customers and Business Partners

Doing Business Free of Corruption

Whenever we work with our customers and business partners, we must do so honestly, respectfully, and objectively. We never seek to gain an unfair or improper advantage through dishonest, deceptive or corrupt actions, such as bribery, kickbacks, or other improper payments—nor do we allow others to do so on our behalf.

Bribes can be anything of value. They can be money, gifts, favors, or offers of lavish entertainment. In short, any offer, promise, authorization, or payment of anything of value made to improperly influence a customer, business partner, or government official's actions or decisions, obtain or retain business, or acquire any sort of improper advantage is a bribe.

We are expected to abide by laws and regulations that prohibit this type of conduct, including the U.S. Foreign Corrupt Practices Act and the U.K. Bribery Act. These laws make it illegal for WFS and any of the third parties representing us to bribe government officials, customers, suppliers and any other party with which we do business. Government officials include federal, state or local government employees, political candidates, and employees of government-owned or controlled businesses.

Importantly, while the focus of the FCPA is on government officials, our policy prohibits all forms of bribery, including bribery in the private or commercial sectors. In the end, bribery is against WFS policy regardless of whether the recipient is a government employee or an employee of a private commercial entity.

The consequences for violating anti-corruption laws can be significant—both for the individuals involved and for WFS—including exposing the Company to significant fines and penalties and criminal prosecution for individuals. If you have questions about anti-corruption laws, or if you are unsure whether a gift, payment, or other thing of value could be considered a bribe, reach out to the Legal Department for assistance.

Dealing with Third Parties

The actions third parties take while working on WFS' behalf can also put our Company at risk of anti-corruption violations. This is true whether or not we know about or authorize any improper payments made by these individuals. For this reason, we must take all reasonable precautions to ensure that third parties who act for us know and follow our Code, policies, and the law.

Before allowing any third party representatives to work on our behalf, we must first ensure we've followed the procedures outlined in the Anti-Corruption Policy. If you have any questions about dealing with third parties, or have observed any red flags in your dealings with WFS representatives, contact the Legal Department for guidance.

Corruption and bribery are serious and often complex issues. For more detailed information and guidelines, please see our Anti-Corruption Policy.

What is an indirect payment?

An indirect payment is a bribe (cash, travel, lodging, lavish gifts or entertainment, or the payment of an inflated price) paid through a third party. We can't use someone else to do what we can't do ourselves, so we must ensure all third parties working on our behalf meet our ethical standards and act properly at all times. It's also a violation of the anti-corruption laws to ignore signs that a third party may be making improper payments or to avoid taking steps to find out that such payments are being made, so please be cautious when making any payment, and ask the Legal Department if you have any questions.

Exchanging Business Gifts and Entertainment

The way we engage with others shapes the direction of our business, and maintaining positive relationships is critical to our continued success. In connection with fostering business relationships with our customer and suppliers, it may be appropriate to offer or receive certain business courtesies. Treating others to reasonable meals and entertainment and exchanging token gifts are a common part of business. However, it's important that gifts and entertainment are always of a reasonable value and are never provided with the intent of inducing the recipient to abuse their position.

The higher the value or frequency of the gift or entertainment, the more likely it is to be construed as a conflict of interest—or, in some cases, a bribe. For entertainment to be appropriate, it must be consistent with customary business practices and never excessive or lavish in nature. It also needs to come up in the ordinary course of business and take place in a proper setting and generally not at the request of a customer or supplier. Specific limits and guidelines regarding gifts and entertainment, including special considerations and policies for dealing with government officials are included in the Anti-Corruption Policy and the Global Travel & Entertainment Policy. If you have questions about whether or not a particular business courtesy is appropriate, talk to your manager or the Legal Department.

Finally, before accepting any gift or entertainment which you would not be allowed to provide under Company policy, you should first seek approval from your manager. If you have been offered or received a gift or entertainment that could influence your business decisions, or cause others to perceive an influence, you should consult the Legal Department.

Red Flags: Corruption and Bribery

When considering whether a payment is or appears to be a bribe, be on the lookout for red flags such as:

- A request that a payment be paid in cash, or to another person or party not related to the transaction
- Large, unexplained expenses on a travel and entertainment expense report
- An agent demanding an unusually high commission for a transaction
- Any agent or salesperson who says they are working directly with a government official to give our Company a contract
- A request from a customer or supplier for a specific type of gift or entertainment

Remember, business courtesies provided to government officials are subject to stricter standards. Gifts and entertainment that may be acceptable between private business partners may not be with government officials. Look back at the Doing Business Free of Corruption section of the Code and refer to our Anti-Corruption Policy for more information.

Anti-Money Laundering

Our commitment to doing the right thing also requires us to be on the lookout for possible money laundering activities. Money laundering is the process by which a person or entity attempts to hide illegal funds or make those funds appear legal. We can identify possible money laundering schemes by certain red flags, such as:

- Unusual payments, including cash payments or transactions that otherwise seem suspicious
- Unusual secrecy regarding transaction or the identity of the account owners
- Payments deposited into personal accounts, rather than business accounts
- Unusual transfers to or from countries or different entities not related to a transaction

If you spot any of these warning signs, you should report the situation to the Legal Department immediately.

Q. Eduardo is setting up payment arrangements with a new vendor. The client asks him to wire the payment into an account in the name of another company, and Eduardo notices the account is located in a different country. He wants to finalize the deal, but something doesn't seem quite right. What should Eduardo do?

A. Eduardo should speak to the Legal Department. These payment arrangements may be signs of money laundering, which violates both the law and the Code. If you ever have concerns about payments you're being asked to make, speak up and ask questions.

Competing with Integrity

We should only win business through the quality of our people and our work, not through deception or illegal practices, and always in compliance with the antitrust and competition laws in the locations where we operate. Whether we are dealing with our customers, our business partners, or even our competitors, we always do so fairly, ethically, and honestly. We avoid making false or misleading claims concerning our business or our competitors. And when we purchase equipment, supplies, and services from others, we select business partners based on merit, never on the basis of unlawful discrimination or bias.

As discussed further in the WFS Antitrust Compliance Manual, antitrust and other competition laws prohibit us from making agreements with our competitors or business partners that limit competition, such as illegal price-fixing or allocating markets or customers, or behavior that is aimed towards achieving or maintaining a monopoly. It does not matter whether an agreement between competitors is oral or written, formal or informal, or even whether it is ultimately carried out. If the intent is to restrain competition, a violation has likely occurred. Similarly, other activities could potentially raise antitrust or competition law issues.

If a WFS competitor or business partner attempts to discuss these or any other anti-competitive topics with you, make it clear that you will not participate. Then, promptly report the interaction to the Legal Department. Be particularly careful not to share sensitive commercial information with competitors when attending industry conferences or trade shows. If you find yourself involved in a conversation with a competitor that turns to the sharing of business information, it is best to excuse yourself or end the conversation immediately.

Antitrust and other competition laws are complex and vary greatly based on the location and situation. You should always consult the Legal Department any time a situation arises that touches upon these laws.

Antitrust and Off-Limits Conversations

Certain competitively sensitive topics lend themselves to improper agreements, or the appearance of such. Even a casual conversation could be viewed by others as an agreement or an offer of partnership. Therefore, we may never discuss the following topics with WFS competitors:

- Prices offered to our customers
- Dividing or allocating markets or customers
- Boycotting certain suppliers or customers
- Manipulating a competitive bidding process

Following Trade Laws

As a global organization with customers and operations around the world, WFS is subject to the laws that govern international trade. We are all responsible for being aware of and understanding applicable trade laws and regulations. Failure to comply with these global trade laws and regulations can severely damage our business and expose the Company and our employees to criminal charges.

Global trade laws and regulations subject certain countries and individuals to economic sanctions or embargoes. These regulations can limit or completely prohibit our dealings with certain countries, individuals or organizations from or associated with those countries. You should always seek legal advice before doing business with a country or individual if sanctions laws or regulations could apply. Sanctions laws and regulations change often, so you should be sure to keep up to date with changing rules and seek guidance from the Legal Department if you have doubts or questions.

We are also required to follow United States antiboycott laws that prohibit us from cooperating with international trade embargoes or sanctions that have been imposed by other countries but are not supported by the United States. Requests to participate in an illegal boycott can be written or verbal, and at times they can be difficult to identify.

Exports include a physical delivery of products or technology, as well as intangible communication of controlled data, such as through email, file transfers, or oral discussions. Any product or technology that is physically delivered is considered an import in the receiving country. Import activity is subject to local customs laws, and there are often certain duties and taxes that we must pay. We may also be required to submit certain filings to local customs authorities.

If you have questions or concerns about trade laws, or need help determining whether or not a person, company, or country is subject to trade sanctions, check with the Legal Department.

Key Takeaways: Trade Laws

- Trade laws and regulations is a complicated area, so whenever in doubt, check with the Legal Department before acting.
- Make sure you have proper authorizations before exporting or importing fuel product, goods, or technology across national borders.
- Know your customers and suppliers and how they will use the fuel product, goods, or services that you supply to them.
- Trade laws and regulations change regularly. Keep up to date with the changing rules and visit the World Ethics intranet page for additional guidance.
