Debbie,

Below is the conversation I had with PPL. As you can see, they were clear that you did not complain regarding the bill until after termination of service.

Let me know if you have any questions.

Hi, Craig,

Yes, our records do show Ms. Brodosky has questioned her electric usage; however, none of those concerns were raised before the termination of service. During at least 2 of those calls after the service was terminated, the company offered to test the meter at her home in response to her usage concerns; customer declined both offers. Service will remain off until the customer makes the required payment to restore the service.

If you have further questions, please let me know.

Kristen,

While no dispute was filed with the PUC prior to the current utility shut-off, she is disputing the entire amount of the bill with PPL. There should be notes in your file indicating she has made disputed her high bill for at least past year.

Subject: RE: shut-off question

Hi, Craig,

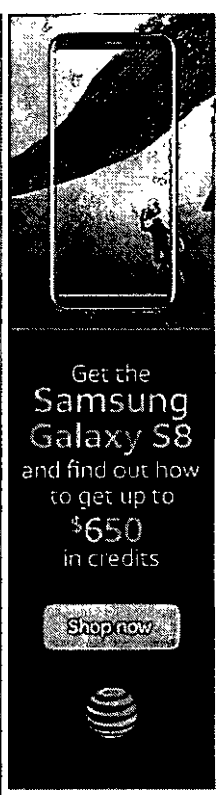

I hope I can offer you some additional information regarding the terms PPL is requesting for reconnection of service. Ms. Brodosky's service had been terminated once previously, in June 2015. A 24-month payment agreement was offered to the customer at that time. When service is terminated at a property a second time, as in this case, the company typically requires the overdue balance to be paid in full. A new payment arrangement is not offered on the second instance of termination. This is why the dollar amount being requested to restore service is $6,302.07.

While Ms. Brodosky may choose to file an appeal with the PUC, we would not normally restore her service until the required amount is paid, since there was no dispute regarding the balance or the usage prior to the termination.

If I can be of further assistance, please let me know.

Kristen,

I advised Ms. Brodosky to contact PPL to accept a payment plan and apply for On Track.

However, Ms. Brodosky is indicating that PPL will not restore her service without a payment of $6,302 and the remaining balance of $3,502.13 when her next month's bill is due. She spoke to several people through customer service today and this was the only option provided.

Additionally, Ms. Brodosky is currently contesting the entire balance of the bill. While the PUC initially dismissed her mediation, she has filed an appeal. Should the service not be restored until her complaint is concluded? She does not have electric heat, and describes minimal usage in her home. However, her bill has historically been as high as $500 a month.

Let me know,
Craig

Hi, Craig,

I'm happy to help you as best I can with your questions about Ms Brodosky's account.

Regarding the medical condition issue, I have been advised that this customer is not currently eligible for a medical certificate.

With respect to OnTrack, her application was rejected in March because she had not attempted a payment agreement. Our records indicate the customer refused our attempt(s) to set up a payment agreement with her.

Ms. Brodosky had not raised any recent concerns with us regarding her usage or her balance until after the service was terminated. Customer contacted the PUC after termination. We received notice that the PUC dismissed her mediation because a previous PUC payment agreement had not been satisfied.

I hope this information is helpful. If you have further questions, please let me know.

Subject: shut-off question

Kristen,

I spoke with Liz Marx this afternoon about a woman who contacted us about a utility shut-off. She gave me your email address and thought you might be the person to contact to get some more information.

The woman's name is Debi Brodosky and the service address is 500 Stout Pl, Roaring Brook Twp, PA 18444.

She has a bill from PPL for over 9k and her electric service has been shut-off.

A few things seem to be going on:

First: She has numerous medical issues, one of which requires insulin, which must be refrigerated. However, I believe she has used the medical excuse several times in the past and has not been able to make payments on her current bills.

Second: She applied for On Track, and was denied. I am not sure why she was denied. Are you able to provide me with this info? She was offered a payment plan, but she could not afford it and therefore did not accept. I am not sure if this was the only reason she was denied for On Track.

Third: She has a smaller home and does not use a significant amount of electricity. However, she says her monthly bill is as high as $500/month. She cannot figure out why the bill is so high. She filed an informal complaint with the PUC, but has not been able to get any resolution on the bill. However, the entire amount is currently under dispute. Shouldn't this be enough to avoid a shutoff?

Is there any information you can provide that would help me try to sort this out?

Thanks so much,
Craig
