Re: Shonda Chapman v. PPL Electric Utilities Corporation
Docket No. C-2017-2617625

Your Honor:

PPL Electric Utilities Corporation (“PPL Electric” or the “Company”) respectfully requests that the evidentiary hearing in the above-captioned matter, which is currently set to be held on October 19, 2017, be rescheduled for some time in mid to late January 2018. The Company is further evaluating the claims raised in Ms. Chapman’s complaint and is seeking to retain an independent, outside expert to review the issues raised concerning PPL Electric’s smart meters. The continuance is beneficial to both parties, as it will provide additional time for the parties to evaluate the complex issues raised concerning the Company’s smart meters, prepare to present their cases, and potentially resolve the proceeding through settlement.

Pursuant to your Prehearing Order dated August 30, 2017, I left a detailed voicemail on September 18, 2017, for Ms. Chapman about the Company’s request to reschedule the hearing. On September 19, 2017, Ms. Chapman’s husband, Joseph Chapman, contacted me about the voicemail requesting the hearing be rescheduled. After speaking with Mr. Chapman over the phone and communicating via email, Mr. Chapman agreed to reschedule the hearing for some time in mid to late January 2018.

In addition, PPL Electric respectfully requests that any due dates for exhibits, witness lists, and summaries of testimony be adjusted to reflect the new hearing date.

A copy of this letter is also being served on Mr. and Ms. Chapman, as indicated below, pursuant to the Prehearing Order.

If you have any questions or concerns, please let me know.

Respectfully submitted,
