Re: Mark Forney v. PPL Electric Utilities Corporation
Docket No. C-2017-2614957

Your Honor:

PPL Electric Utilities Corporation (“PPL Electric” or the “Company”) respectfully requests that the evidentiary hearing in the above-captioned matter, which is currently set to be held on October 11, 2017, be rescheduled for some time in mid to late January 2018. The Company is further evaluating the claims raised in Mr. Forney’s complaint and is seeking to retain an independent, outside expert to review the issues raised concerning PPL Electric’s smart meters. The continuance is beneficial to both parties, as it will provide additional time for the parties to evaluate the complex issues raised concerning the Company’s smart meters, prepare to present their cases, and potentially resolve the proceeding through settlement.

Pursuant to your Prehearing Order dated August 24, 2017, I left a detailed voicemail on September 18, 2017, for Mr. Forney about the Company’s request to reschedule the hearing. To date, I have not heard back from Mr. Forney about PPL Electric’s request. Notwithstanding, considering the current date of the hearing is about three weeks away, the Company did not want to delay its request to reschedule the hearing.

In addition, PPL Electric respectfully requests that any due dates for exhibits, witness lists, and summaries of testimony be adjusted to reflect the new hearing date.

A copy of this letter is also being served on Mr. Forney, as indicated below, pursuant to the Prehearing Order.
