Dear Judge Cheskis:

Re: Akeem Simmons v. UGI Utilities, Inc.
Complaint Docket No. C-2017-2605783

I received Ms. Whisenant's September 20, 2017 letter on Friday, September 22, 2017. UGI's response is as follows:

Akeem Simmons is the Complainant in this matter with standing to pursue his complaint. Although Ms. Whisenant may have standing by virtue of the power of attorney to file a complaint, she clearly does not have authority to represent Ms. Mowery and Mr. Simmons.

Again, in the interest of brevity, I merely wish to note that Ms. Whisenant continues to argue matters that are neither relevant nor material to the disposition of the Simmons complaint. As stated in my previous email dated August 30, 2017, the record of the August 22, 2017 hearing contains all relevant factual matters necessary for application of the controlling law.

While the additional matters stated by Ms. Whisenant may have relevance to a civil action between the parties, the additional matters Ms. Whisenant desires to address are not germane to the formal complaint. An additional hearing and subpoena of the numerous other individuals is unnecessary. The controlling fact is that the damage to the property of UGI created a hazardous situation. Upon discovery of the damage, UGI took appropriate action to make the situation safe. If service is to be restored, the parties with custody and control of the property are responsible for payment of the damages and costs to restore the service.

Therefore, UGI requests that the record be closed and that an appropriate initial decision be issued.

Sincerely,

Larry R. Crayne
