

Dear Rosemary,

I'm sorry I have turned out to be such a thorn in your side, and I truly mean that. I beg you to please take a moment of your time and try to empathize with my quandary. In respect of your time I will be as brief as possible.

Do you need a Doctor to tell you that you're allergic to peanuts and Dairy products, or that riding in a car gives you motion sickness? Probably not. You're the best judge of what makes you ill, just the same as I am. EMF adversely affects me. We are all unique, it's what makes us human, it's what makes life so exciting and never boring.

Have you ever eaten cilantro? most folks love it but to some of us it tastes very offensive, kind of like dish soap. I can go on & on, but out of respect I'll finish up. I'm pleading with you to look at me as a unique individual and not just a number or an account. Once again EMF adversely affects me. I know that sounds crazy to you but, if you are not, it's difficult to comprehend.

Please, once again, I beg you to consider me as the unique individual that I am. If you could grant me a trial by jury of my peers, I know they would understand my predicament.

I pray, that just for a brief moment, you would put your title & position aside, and read this letter as Rosemary Chiavetta, the caring mother, the loving wife or the empathetic friend and not Rosemary Chiavetta, Secretary Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission. It makes a difference doesn't it! Thank you Rosemary.

Respectfully,

445639
