

Dear Commissioners,

Pennsylvanians have suffered dearly during this COVID-19 pandemic, and while things may be looking up, we have a long way to go. Pennsylvanians are suffering through a health crisis, as well as an economic crisis. Between unemployment, the increase in working-at-home, and the extreme weather conditions, utility services such as electricity and heating, are more important than ever.

The current cutoff date for the utility moratorium is March 31 of this year. I am reaching out to urge the Commissioners to extend the current protections on utility shutoffs beyond that date, through the entirety of the pandemic.

I also believe it would be worthwhile for the Commission to create an equitable plan to forgive utility debt. For Pennsylvanians who have suffered during the pandemic to recover economically, they must not be bogged down by utility debt. Thank you very much for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Hannah Lebowitz-Lockard (8330 Millman Street, Philadelphia PA 19118), PECO
