INTERIM ORDER
DIRECTING COMPLAINANT TO PRODUCE
PROTECTION FROM ABUSE ORDER

The Complainant, Amanda Polk Herr, filed a formal complaint against West Penn Power on August 20, 2021. In her complaint Ms. Herr, checked the box noting that a court has granted her a Protection from Abuse Order (PFA) for her personal safety or welfare. Accordingly, it is the practice of the Commission to protect the Complainant’s address, telephone number and account numbers in all filings that are typically made public.

In its answer, filed on September 20, 2021, West Penn Power states that the Complainant’s PFA recently expired.

THEREFORE,

IT IS ORDERED:

1. That until directed otherwise, the Complainant will be given in this proceeding the protections accorded an individual having received a Protection from Abuse Order. Any filings made with the Commission shall protect the Complainant’s address, telephone number, account number and any other identifying information.

2. That on or before November 15, 2021, the Complainant shall provide a copy to me and to counsel for West Penn Power a true and correct copy of a Court-issued Protection from Abuse Order that is currently in effect for her protection, or evidence of any pending court action to renew a Protection from Abuse Order which was in effect at the time her complaint was filed.
