ATTACHMENT A

8. TECHNICAL FITNESS:

Experience – Chautauqua Energy Management, Inc. (CEM) is a retail natural gas supplier behind National Fuel Gas Distribution Company in both New York and Pennsylvania. In addition to providing retail natural gas supply, CEM also acts as an electric broker/advisor in NY for its customers. CEM has a combined 40 years of experience brokering electric supply in New York State. Included with this application is the Vice President of CEM's resume which further details his experience in the deregulated energy markets.

Electric Service Licenses – New York State does not require that brokers/agents/consultants have licenses to provide consultative/advisory services to electric customers. Since CEM until this point in time has only served as a broker/advisor in New York State, there is no license that can be provided.

Customer Type - CEM customers, for both natural gas supply and electric brokerage services are commercial, industrial and municipal accounts. CEM supplies ~500 natural gas accounts and brokers/manages the purchasing for ~175 electric accounts. Again, natural gas supply is limited to the National Fuel Gas territory. Electric brokerage customers are behind various New York UDCs (New York State Electric & Gas, Rochester Gas & Electric, National Grid, Con Edison, Orange & Rockland and Central Hudson Gas & Electric).

Staffing Structure – CEM is a small business. The President/Owner of CEM is Scott Sampson. The Vice President of CEM is Jody Spaeth. The Secretary for CEM is Sue Rapp. Any other companies/individuals working with CEM are contractors and/or agents. All price offers, price evaluations, marketing materials, etc. are developed by the three aforementioned employees of CEM and distributed to its third-party channels as needed. All messaging, deal evaluation and contracting are reviewed and managed by CEM employees to ensure compliance with all UDC and PUC/PSC customer protection requirements.

Business Plan – The primary focus and reason for the submission of this application is to provide electric brokerage services to CEMs existing PA gas customers. Leveraging existing relationships for growth of the brokerage business both directly and through referrals is the current plan for expansion. CEM is not entertaining any plans for aggressive marketing campaigns or sales efforts to rapidly grow in Pennsylvania. Additionally, consistent with the plan and territories where CEM currently has customers (or may expand to with referrals), the company is only looking to become a broker behind Penelec, West Penn Power and Penn Power.
