Once the new fictitious name is approved, we plan to use both fictitious names. 5 will be used for medium and large commercial and industrial customers. 5 Digital Energy will only be used for small business customers that transact using the 5 Digital Energy shopping site. I have pasted below the section of the digitalenergyby5.com site that discusses the relationship between 5 and 5 Digital Energy.

You know your business. We know energy.

5 Digital Energy was launched with the intent to provide best-in-class energy advice to small businesses. Electricity markets are complex and choosing the best electricity contract for a business can be a confusing. How do you choose the best energy plan with so many different electricity providers, terms and contract options available? And at the same time, how do you avoid scams, doing business with disreputable energy suppliers, and entering contracts with hidden fees and unfriendly contract terms? All of these energy options can be overwhelming. Most small business owners don't have the time, expertise or resources to do this on their own and aren't sure where to turn for good objective advice and energy solutions. There is a better way.

5 Digital Energy is a brand of 5, a national energy advisory firm that supports thousands of large commercial and industrial clients across North America. 5's team is comprised of energy market innovators, engineers, commodity traders, renewable energy and sustainability experts, and other energy professionals with a common purpose – to deliver unrivaled energy advice, risk management, energy preparedness and sustainable energy services. That same energy expertise that 5 provides to its largest and most complex clients is behind the engine that enables 5 Digital Energy's small business clients to make energy decisions like a Fortune 500 company.

Your business can trust this platform and the recommendations that come from it because 5 Digital Energy has done all the energy homework for you. The energy suppliers, contracts and products on this website are the ones we would consider if we had our own small business. There are plenty of electricity suppliers and consultants who try to take advantage of small businesses and attract them with low introductory rates, gift cards and other scams. We don't buy into any of those gimmicks. 5 Digital Energy's goal is to help your business identify the best contract terms at the best price from the top energy suppliers in the country. In addition to help with finding an energy supplier, 5 Digital Energy can offer resources to help with FAQs, sustainability, energy efficiency, rebates, energy-saving tips, clean energy options, and natural gas.
