

MARCUS CULVER

VS.

PHILADELPHIA GAS WORKS

EXCEPTIONS:

I Marcus Culver did not illegally hook up to the gas and I feel I should not have to pay for that. When I moved into my house electric and gas was already on. I didn't think anything of that I knew a family just moved out so I figured when they turn it off I would switch everything to my name. I am Negligent for for not switching it over to my name right away and I should have but I began to forget about the gas because so much time had gone by but when it was turned off thought I would just switch everything into my name not knowing the gas was illegally hooked up. I feel the gas company shares some responsibility for not acting sooner and to just stick me with a 9,000 dollar bill when I did nothing illegal I just simply moved in is Ludacris. I am a single father. I work full-time from home I have never committed a crime in my life I have a great career and through such a tough cold 2 years I have managed to improve my circumstances. I asking that this be thrown out because it is unfair and unjust to give a bill based on another family's usage. Not to mention no notice of rescheduled court date witch extended the cold days and nights for me and my 3 year old son not fair.

Thank you for this opportunity
