To Whom This May Concern,

My name is Scott Waters, and I am writing on behalf of Manifest Moving, a moving company that has been actively involved in various aspects of transportation and logistics over the last few years.

Our team at Manifest Moving has consistently demonstrated expertise in driving trucks, moving equipment, loading pallets, operating forklifts, and executing seamless events that involve the careful transportation of household goods. We pride ourselves on our commitment to efficiency, safety, and professionalism in every aspect of our operations.

Over the past few years, we have worked extensively with an Agency called Game Seven based out of NYC. Throughout our tenure at Game Seven, we have rented countless amounts of homes where we have had to empty the house, stage it for our event transport all the goods to a storage unit, and return all the goods at the end. We understand the process and caution that needs to be taken when transporting any household goods or other goods.

Best regards,

Scott Waters
