

To whom it may concern:

I truly apologize I did not know I had a hearing date in January, at that time my wife was in the hospital and we were fighting an eviction in court so my focus was on those things. I am also questioning what is owed to pgw , a portion of the bill was paid for by the estate of the home owner at the time and then a few months later the payment was reversed and I as left with the payment. I don't think that is fair because a portion of that bill was not mine. I am not discounting owing money and its no ones fault but my own and I would like to pay it. I don't have 6000 to pay at one time so I am asking to be able to break the payment up please. Gas is needed at my house because my wife has a skin condition where she gets boils on her body and they break open. We need to keep them clean. I can submit paperwork as proof. I checked my online account and it says to pay 3000 by 5/17. I humbly beg that we be able to break that into smaller payments so its manageable I have a full time job now and my wife although still ill is getting better. I have stopped the eviction and I am trying to get everything together. Can I please have my hearing or be able to break apart the payments an can I have that payment that was made and then reversed look into. I am not trying to abuse the system I am trying just to get some help on that lost payment and now I have my life together to make payments. Thanks so much for your time.
