Re: Petition of TotalEnergies Distributed Generation USA, LLC for Interim Emergency Order; Docket No. P-2024-3051440; Order Granting Interim Emergency Relief and Certifying Material Question Entered October 15, 2024; JOINT LETTER ADDRESSING RATIFICATION

Dear Secretary Chiavetta:

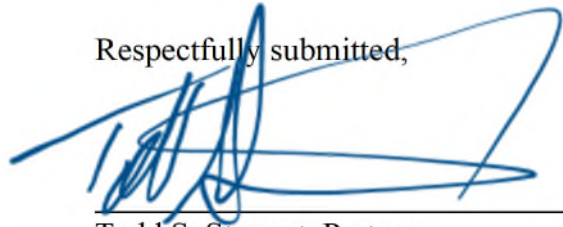

On October 15, 2024, Administrative Law Judges Steven K. Haas and F. Joseph Brady issued an Order Granting Interim Emergency Relief and Certifying Material Question (“Order”) in the above captioned matter barring PPL Electric Utilities Corporation (“PPL Electric”) from “making its deposit requirement” for interconnection applications “non-refundable pending a final Commission order on the Formal Complaint filed by TotalEnergies Distributed Generation USA, LLC” (“TotalEnergies”) at Docket No. C-2024-3051475. Order, Ordering Paragraph 2. As a consequence of the Order, this matter has been certified to the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission (“Commission”) under 52 Pa. Code § 5.305, which permits the parties to submit briefs and allows 30 days for the Commission to act on the certification or else the material question is deemed affirmed. It should be noted that there is an underlying Complaint matter concerning the same subject matter, which has yet to proceed and should eventually resolve the issue.

To save the time and effort involved in briefing the issue and the Commission’s time and effort in reviewing this matter, PPL Electric and TotalEnergies have reached an agreement that will eliminate the need for Commission review of the Interim Emergency Order. PPL Electric has agreed that all deposit payments made by TotalEnergies or its subsidiaries, in furtherance of interconnection applications on the PPL Electric system, will be expressly refundable pending the outcome of the underlying Complaint case and that such deposits will remain refundable unless the Commission in its ruling on the Complaint case declares that such deposits shall be non-refundable.

Accordingly, TotalEnergies and PPL Electric will not be submitting briefs, considering that the issue of the refundable status of TotalEnergies's deposits has been resolved pending the outcome of the Complaint, and ask that the Commission take whatever action may be required to effectuate this agreement.

Respectfully submitted,
