

It is completely unacceptable to increase the electric utility costs of individual households to compensate for the increased energy demands caused by data centers. Pennsylvania citizens did not ask for these facilities. Most of us do not want them. I would rather disconnect my electricity and go off-grid than help subsidize the power used by the data centers. By allowing these big tech corporations to drain our resources, you are failing the people of this state, and this country. If developers and tech conglomerates want to use power, they can pay for all of it themselves. Do not pass these expenses onto individual customers.
