

The proposed tariff language places an undue burden on residential customers, who should not subsidize Big Tech's energy demands.

I urge the PUC to require data centers to fully fund their own infrastructure upgrades and not pass costs to ratepayers.

We need transparent rules that ensure large loads pay their fair share for grid enhancements, preventing higher bills and potential outages.