Re: Docket No. M-2026-3061024

Comment and Response to Tentative Order

Dear Sir:

We respectfully contest the Tentative Order against Sorbelli Transport Services, LLC (PUC No. 8925401) as relates to a Public Meeting Held: April 16, 2026, Agenda No. 3061024-LAW, which resulted in the proposed cancellation of our PUC Certificate of Public Convenience.

We contest that we are a business that requires PUC certification. As per Title 66 of the Pennsylvania Consolidated Statutes, a PUC Certificate of Public Convenience authorizes companies to provide certain transportation or utility services for compensation. The primary purpose being to certify a specific carrier meets state safety and insurance standards, as well as to ensure consumer protection. Sorbelli Transport Services, LLC is in the business of exclusively providing tri-axel (dump truck) heavy hauling services for utility companies, to the extent that it is required that we maintain PUC certification.

We contest that we have consistently filed our gross interstate operating revenue for the proceeding year, in compliance with 52 Pa Code §31.12. We have attested to this fact on our annual Assessment Reports, which for the last two years were filed electronically on March 23, 2025, and March 3, 2026 (confirmations enclosed). A review of these two electronically-filed forms will prove that Sorbelli Transport Services, LLC has reported its GROSS intrastate operating revenue in compliance with this requirement. It should be noted that these Assessment Reports, both hard copy and electronic versions, include the opportunity to submit supporting documentation for each revenue exemption identified, which we also submit each year (copies enclosed).

The line-by-line instructions given on the Annual Assessment Report direct motor carriers to identify their prior year's PA Operating Revenue, as well as any exemption that may be applicable, and the corresponding PA exempt intrastate revenue for any applicable exemptions. Motor Carriers are also directed to include "verifying documentation" for all exempt revenue. If a Pennsylvania motor carrier that is exclusively in the business of providing services that fall within an exemption, such as Sorbelli Transport Services, LLC, it stands to reason that there will also be a NET-ZERO operating revenue, to which you will find we have also attested the last two reporting years.

As an aside, we have also attested to the safety and readiness of Sorbelli Transport Services, LLC via mail-in PUC Planning and Readiness Self-Certification Form, filed consecutively in March 2025 and March 2026.

Additional Comment: We raise issue with the fact that we were not properly informed of the Public Hearing that directly impacted the status of our PUC Certification. The actions of the Public Utility Commission Hearing held on April 16, 2026, (specifically with regard to Agenda No. 3061024-LAW), directly impacted the PUC status of numerous motor carriers, including Sorbelli Transport Services, LLC; however, we were never notified of the date, time and location of this public input hearing to the extent we could provide information to defend our certification status. Since we were not given any additional information about the alleged deficiencies besides what has been identified in the Tentative Order, we are only able to address those issues raised.

Given the above information and evidence submitted on behalf of Sorbelli Transport Services, LLC (PUC No. 8925401), we respectfully request that our PUC Certification not be cancelled.

Submitted Respectfully,

Angela D. Sorbelli, Owner
Sorbelli Transports Services, LLC

Verifying Documentation for PA Exempt Intrastate Revenue

Exemption #4 – Waste, Excavated and Road Construction Materials.

Please note the following as relates to our claims exemption #4 on our 2024 Assessment Report (MC):

- 1) The material we transport 100% of the time is either road excavation materials (concrete, dirt, spoils, etc) or road construction materials (stone, gravel, blacktop, etc);
- 2) The materials were transported from a specific quarry (ex. Highway Materials, Plymouth Meeting, PA) to an excavation/construction site (ex. Powelton Ave, Philadelphia, PA). Note, we provide these services across various other quarries, plants and job sites.
- 3) And the materials were transported solely with one of our four heavy duty triaxle dump trucks.
