Dear Mr. Homsher,

I am writing in response to the Commission's tentative order to cancel my Certificate of Public Convenience for Common Carriers, Docket # M-2026-3061024. Per item #4, "Waste, Excavated, and Road Construction Materials", on page 2 of the Public Utility Commission's Instructions for Preparing 2025 Assessment Report For Motor Carriers, Waste, Excavated, and Road Construction Materials, "You may deduct revenue you received from transporting ashes (including anti-skid, flue dust and fly ash), rubbish and waste for disposal. The PUC also allows the exemption/deduction of any revenue you received for transporting excavated materials in dump trucks. The purpose of the excavation is to create a hole or cavity. Removing materials of value for use elsewhere is NOT exempt. The PUC also allows the exemption/deduction of any revenue you received for transporting road construction materials if a dump truck is used, and the materials hauled are used solely in a private or public road project including driveways (but NOT parking lots), and the materials are hauled directly to road construction sites or stockpiles. Carriers may not claim a revenue exemption for waste, excavated and road construction material when those materials were transported in five-axle tractor-trailers."

My company, Chilla Frank Anthony/F.A. Chilla/Frank A Chilla, PUC Utility # A-00115818 has reported zero intrastate revenue because I am an Independent Contractor transporting excavated and road construction materials in a dump truck as defined as exempt in the aforementioned document with the heading, "Exempt Revenue may be deducted on line 2, as provided by 66 Pa.C.S. ;102:" I have operated continuously without unreasonable interruptions of service and have submitted and maintained all filings as required.

Based on the reporting requirements cited above, my Certificate of Public Convenience for Common Carriers, should NOT be cancelled. I trust that I will be notified before any further action is taken and that I will be contacted if additional information is needed. I appreciate your prompt attention to this matter.
